Berlin Claims Soviet Losses Are Staggering

Asserts Russians Have Lost Some 2,000,000 Men So Far In War

PANZER SQUADRONS ARE POURING EAST

Gigantic Struggle Continues To Rage Up And Down Eastern Front

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 21.—Nazi panzer squadrons were reported still pouring east beyond the Stalin line today while German military dispatches claimed that Soviet losses in the war so far have reached the staggering total of some 2,000,000 men.

These reports said the gigantic struggle that has raged since the Germans crossed the Stalin line has cost the red armies another million men, in addition to the million Russians are said to have lost in the earlier stages of the conflict.

German dispatches indicated that the attack of Chancellor Hitler's legions has accomplished more extensive disruption of the Russian war machine than even the most optimistic hopes of German strategists anticipated 10 days ago.

German military authorities asserted that the German pursuit of retreating Soviet formations has now swung into full stride along the entire front.

"Annihilation battles" They also declared that within a 75-mile zone east of the Stalin line roaring "annihilation battles" are (Continued On Page Two)

Says Next Two Weeks To Tell Story In Russia

ANKARA, July 21.—"The next two weeks will tell the story in Russia."

"What happens in that time will determine the outcome of the war in the east and will vastly affect the length of the World War."

This opinion was expressed to me today by a high-ranking officer of a foreign power who is leading authority on the present war theatre and a student of both German and Russian armies.

Hurdle First Obstacle "The Russians," he said, "hurdled a most important obstacle—one which many outside observers feared they wouldn't clear—at the outset when they failed to crack after the initial stunning blow.

"Instead, they are putting up an extraordinarily strong nationalist front."

"But a new test will come with the fall of Moscow. This is likely to occur in the next two weeks. Will the Russians crack then?"

"The answer to that question is portentous to an unprecedented degree."

Investigate Report Nazi Plot To Overthrow Bolivian Government

GERMAN MINISTER IS ASKED TO LEAVE

(International News Service)
LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 21.—Defense Minister Miguel Cardia today flew to the Cochabamba region to investigate personally reports that it was the center of a Nazi plot to overthrow the Bolivian government.

This alleged plot already has resulted in a governmental decree requesting German Minister Ernest Wendler to leave the country.

Semi-official sources said today that the government has collected further evidence proving that former finance minister Victor Paz Estenssoro, while outwardly heading the Nazi movement in Bolivia, was merely a figurehead used by the Germans and was not destined to play an important part in the "new regime."

British Claim Great Success In V-Campaign

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 21.—British authorities claimed overwhelming success today in the "V for Victory" campaign as reports from the European continent emphasized the swiftly-spreading appearance of Britain's single-lettered slogan of hope and eventual triumph.

Brendan Bracken, newly appointed minister of information, and others of his staff were far from discouraged over the fact that propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels has appropriated the "V" for German purposes.

No one it was said, will be misled by sudden substitution of the archaic German word "viktoria" for the "siege" which has been drummed into Nazism as the word for victory. Goebbels' action is merely proof to Britain of the extent to which people in the occupied countries are using every possible occasion to display the letter and thus demonstrate their true feelings.

Hope For Rebellion Eventually, the British hope the written, spoken and telegraphed "V" will be transmitted into open rebellion.

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service)
The titanic Russo-German war roared into its fifth week today with the same familiar pattern unchanged—a battle of high explosive, on the front and a battle of claim and counter-claim behind the lines.

"Proceeding according to plan . . . advancing all along the front . . . annihilating the enemy," said Berlin.

"Holding firmly . . . have retaken a strategic city . . . inflicting tremendous losses," retorted Moscow.

Losses Colossal Both sides agreed that losses have been colossal. The German high command said that 2,000,000 Red soldiers already have been killed and hundreds of thousands taken prisoner. The Nazis reported further that the German, Rumanian and Hungarian troops in the south are advancing rapidly against weak opposition.

Moscow claimed that the Red troops were holding on the front lines and that guerrilla tactics behind the lines were playing nob

President Says Situation Now Far More Grave

Urges Congress To "Acknowledge" The State Of National Emergency

SAYS ARMY SHOULD BE IN READINESS

Special Message Is Sent To Congress By President This Afternoon

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Urging congress to pass pending legislation extending the service of draftees, National Guardsmen and Reservists, President Roosevelt today called on the legislators to "acknowledge" the state of a national emergency because the international situation is now "far more grave than a year ago" when the draft law was enacted.

The chief executive, in a special message, informed both houses that it "would be a tragic error" to curtail the training of selectees and Guardsmen at the conclusion of the twelve months.

"Today it is imperative that I should officially report to the congress," asserted the president, "what the congress undoubtedly knows: That the international situation is not less grave but is far more grave than it was a year ago."

"It is so grave, in my opinion, and in the opinion of all who are conversant with the facts that the army should be maintained in effective strength and without diminution of its effective numbers in a complete state of readiness. Small as it is in comparison with other armies, it should not suffer any form of disorganization or disintegration."

Nazi Domination Closer Tracing the time table conquests of Germany, which he declared successively brought the issue of Nazi domination closer to this hemisphere, the president said the danger of the United States' safety is much greater today than it was a year ago when congress put a 12-month limit on training.

"I do believe—I know—that the danger today is infinitely greater," he said. "I do believe—I know—that in all truth we are in the midst of a national emergency."

"I am not asking the congress for specific language in a specific bill. But I can say frankly that I hope the congress will acknowledge this national emergency either for a specific period or until revocation by the congress or the president."

Declaration by Congress of a state of national emergency would have the effect of giving President Roosevelt a full vote of confidence or all actions he has taken to date under the emergency he declared by proclamation.

Further, such a congressional declaration would enable the President to retain selectees, guardsmen and reserve officers in training for the period of emergency and give him authority to send them anywhere in the world he deemed it necessary in the interest of national defense.

The President warned solemnly that "we would be taking a grave national risk unless the Congress (Continued On Page Six)

Army Officers Are Missing On Flight

Major And Captain Missing On Routine Flight From Georgia To Kelly Field, Texas

(International News Service)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 21.—Some 40 southeastern air corps planes combed the area between Montgomery and Jackson, Miss., today, in search of Major Fred S. Stocks and Captain William S. Hargen, missing since Saturday on a flight from Fort Benning, Ga., to Kelly Field, Texas.

Army authorities here predicted an early announcement on the fate of the fliers, but no clues as to their whereabouts had been reported. The plane's fuel supply could not have carried it beyond Jackson, Miss.

The missing ship was one of three which took off on a scheduled flight from Fort Benning, to Kelly Field, Texas. Two planes, piloted by Col. Warner B. Gates, commanding officer of the field, and Lieut. Charles E. Blanchard, Jr., returned to Fort Benning after the formation had become separated by bad weather conditions.

Last contact with the missing fliers was said to have been a radio report from Major Stocks to Maxwell field, in which he reported that he was near that field.

LONDON, July 21.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today announced a new shake-up in the British cabinet apparently designed to give new life and vigor to Britain's press, radio and movie propaganda.

The changes, in which Alfred Duff Coe, was replaced as minister of information by Brendan Bracken, were made as Britain spurred its full blast mobilization of the "V for Victory" army in German occupied lands.

PROCLAMATION

The government of the United States has called upon its citizens to contribute aluminum articles for which they have no use, in order to alleviate a drastic shortage in aluminum needed for war defense purposes. Like every other city in the United States, New Castle is asked to do its share. And New Castle will.

The day and time set for the collection of aluminum kettles, pans and other articles in New Castle is Thursday, July 24, between the hours of five and seven o'clock P. M. Citizens are asked to place the aluminum articles they wish to contribute, on the front steps of their homes and places of business before five p. m. July 24 in order that collectors may gather it with a minimum of effort.

As Mayor of the City of New Castle I call upon every citizen to do his share in this worthy endeavor. Every one of us can contribute some article made of aluminum, knowing that when we do so we are aiding in building the machinery of defense in the United States.

Automobile, street car, bus and truck drivers are asked to exert particular care for the safety of the hundreds of Boy and Girl Scouts who will be upon the streets during the hours mentioned. It is urged that the collection period be announced by the blowing of all industrial whistles and the ringing of church bells, fire bells and the sounding of sirens.

New Castle holds a proud record in answering the calls for help from the government. This call will not go unheeded I am certain. A little from a lot of people will swell the total of aluminum which will be turned over to the government from every state in the Union.

CHARLES B. MAYNE, Mayor,
City of New Castle.

R. A. F. Continues Nazi Attacks

Cologne Under Severe Attack

Unceasing Raids Are Being Made By British On Nazi Held Soil

MUCH DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY ATTACKS

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, July 21.—Escorted by squadrons of fighting planes, heavy British bombers today attacked industrial targets at Lille, in German-occupied France.

Five German fighters were shot down and four British fighters were lost.

Other points in northern France were reported to have been raided as the R. A. F. renewed its unceasing assaults on Nazi-held soil.

Heavy forces of British planes, flying at high altitudes, roared to the attack. Some of the formations headed for Calais.

During the night British bombers attacked industrial targets in the Rhineland section of Germany and also bombed the docks at Rotterdam.

Rhineland Battered

Other British bombers last night battered new German defenses established on the French coast cliffs near Cap Gris Nez and positions close to Boulogne. It was believed the new British daylight raids continued pounding these positions.

According to an air ministry communique, the industrial Rhineland city of Cologne was the principal objective of a sustained R. A. F. attack during the night.

Many large fires were started in industrial areas of Cologne, the communique said, adding that the attack on Rotterdam docks was a "subsidiary" assault.

No British planes were lost, the announcement stated.

An official Berlin announcement said "weak R. A. F. forces" raided western Germany during the night, causing a few casualties and some damage to residential districts.

Nazi raiders during the night dropped bombs on several points in eastern England and two places in northern Scotland. The air ministry said there were a number of casualties and some damage.

TWO MEN KILLED;
THIRD IS INJURED;
STRUCK BY TRUCK

He left and later reported at police headquarters his truck had been stolen. He was detained, later questioned and the story of the accident was ascertained by Criswell and Detective John Moore.

They claim that John Saesens told them he worked until 11 p. m. Saturday making deliveries. Because James McCormick, proprietor, has been ill in his home, Saesens closed the company's office at 11 p. m. His brother Arnold and he went to McCormick's residence and delivered the day's receipts to McCormick.

John then drove to gasoline station at Beaver and West Washington streets. Arnold's car would not start, so John pulled it with his truck to get it to start, after which John had some gasoline put in his brother's car. They then went to a cafe where they had sandwiches. They left and returned to the gasoline station. Arnold suggested they visit the Rumanian club.

They started for the club. John driving the truck and Arnold his auto, the latter following the truck. John stated to Criswell, John drove south on Beaver, through Lawrence thence into South Jefferson street.

At a point south of the Pennsylvania Engineering works, John allegedly asserted, a car came north and the lights on the auto blinded him. John claimed that, when he saw the three men, it was too late to avoid striking them. He declared he swerved his truck left in an effort to prevent the accident. However, the truck hit them, he stated.

"Was Frightened"

After the truck had struck the men, he stopped and got out of the truck. He told Criswell: "When I saw them lying there I became frightened and I did not know what I was doing." Arnold arrived at the scene in his car and also stopped. John claims he got back into his truck, with Arnold following in his auto and they drove to the Rumanian club, where police claim they were reportedly seen inspecting the damage to the front of the truck.

John then got into Arnold's auto and they drove to police headquarters where John told police his truck had been stolen. He maintained to Criswell he told this story because he was frightened and confused. Both were detained while Lieutenant George Kennedy, Coroner T. F. Nugent and other police investigated the accident.

When Acting Chief of Police Criswell arrived at headquarters Sunday morning he had John Saesens taken to his office where Criswell with Detective John Moore and Coroner Nugent questioned the young man, who is married. Criswell asserted that John then told him the real story. Saesens explaining that he "was not himself" when he first appeared at police headquarters.

Charges Made

With Coroner Nugent, Criswell took the Saesens brothers to the office of Alderman James C. Brice, where John was charged by Criswell with involuntary manslaughter and failure to stop and render assistance. Arnold, who lives at R. D. 1, was charged with being a material witness. Both furnished bail Sunday.

According to police headquarters records, a call was received at 12:22 a. m. Sunday stating there had been a serious accident near the Cambria Slag company in South Jefferson street.

Lieutenant G. S. Kennedy and Policemen R. Richards, Cubellis and Harper launched an investigation immediately. Coroner T. F. Nugent was also summoned. The truck had been driven away, they learned.

The fire department ambulance took Atkins and McHenry to the hospital. McHenry died Sunday morning. Atkins is in a serious condition.

The Leyde ambulance conveyed Smith to the hospital. He was dead when admitted to the hospital.

The three men had been together and were walking north. Smith inquired of an employee at the slag company as to the time. The two colored men had gone on, but one of them shouted to Smith: "Come on."

Shortly following the accident occurred.

The crash knocked McHenry over the east side of South Jefferson curb. Smith was found lying in the cartway of George street intersection and Atkins was found lying 15 feet northwest of George street intersection in South Jefferson street.

Officers R. Richards and Cubellis sought and found the truck reportedly operated by John Saesens, at the Rumanian club, South Jefferson street.

Horace G. McHenry was born in Asheville, N. C., on April 14, 1899, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McHenry. He leaves his wife, Agnes, one sister, Florence McHenry, one brother, Charles, all of New Castle; three aunts, Mrs. Augusta Hanbrink of New Castle, Mrs. Belle Whitworth of Detroit and Mrs. Lexie Lytle of Azalea, N. C.; one nephew, Raymond McHenry of New Castle, and one niece, Ruth McHenry, New Castle.

Friends may call at the Crunkleton funeral home, West Falls street, Tuesday evening. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral home with Rev. J. H. Thomas, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist church, in charge. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Traffic congestion on the public square seems to be quite prevalent on Sunday afternoons. There appears to be a lot of tangled traffic because of congestion in making the turns.

According to Dr. Frank Dorsey, who has recently returned from the New England states, there has been no rain in New Hampshire for the past 70 days.

Lawns and golf courses have never looked greener at this time of the year than they do right now. Although there was a lack of rainfall during the spring, June and July have made up for it, with copious showers.

I have in my possession a two-year-old "night blooming cereus," called "Queen of the Night" because its blooms are at their most beautiful at midnight. When this plant was started for me, as a slip from an old plant, I was told that it would not bloom for at least seven years.

About June 15th I noticed the bud beginning to form. It grew very fast, and by the first of July the bud was about four inches long. Then it started to swell, and by the 4th of July we knew the bud was ready to open.

At four o'clock the first petals began to open and continued slowly to unfold. The sight was a wonderful one and very unusual.

My sister, who had given me the plant, was there to watch the sight and told me that the flower would begin to close shortly after midnight. Well, our guests left about 11:30 and my husband and I decided to try an experiment. We cut off the flower in all its beauty, with a portion of the stem, and placed it in the refrigerator. The next morning the flower was as beautiful as when we placed it there the night before.

In the afternoon we took the flower into town to show it off some more. Of course, the flower began to close slowly in the heat. We brought it back home during the evening and replaced it in the refrigerator. The bud, or rather the partly closed flower, has been there ever since and looks just the same. We think that if the flower had remained in the cold of the refrigerator in its first perfect condition, the flower would still be open.

Our plant only had one bud, but there will be other plants blooming in New Castle or vicinity and it will be interesting for some of the owners to experiment.

Hoping this proves of interest, Yours respectfully, now in progress to liquidate the hundreds of thousands of red army troops caught in this area.

Nowhere was there a single suggestion that the resistance offered by the Soviets has succeeded in blocking the forward sweep of the Nazi military steam-roller.

On the basis of events in the past four weeks, German military experts expressed a growing certainty that the German plan to wipe out, as far as possible, the Russian military colossus in western Russia thru a series of "annihilation battles" is nearing its goal.

It was conceded, however, that formidable tasks lie ahead for the Germans in view of the fact that the red army's man-power and equipment "seem endless."

Soviet Tanks Numberless

German war correspondents at the fighting front reported: The bolsheviks have more tanks than lice. We are busy getting rid of both.

German authorities declared the push to the south from Lake Ladoga on the northern front is rapidly narrowing the distance of this force from the German force advancing from Lake Peipus for the planned encirclement of Leningrad. They added that large Soviet military units have now been cut off and isolated in northern Estonia.

One military expert, Herr Stackelberg, in a "preview" of the war's next stage, declared:

"A man hunt is coming and, because of broken rear communications and transportation the Soviets will not be able to retreat so fast that our panzers and planes cannot catch them."

"Germany is also a master at pursuing a beaten foe to a point where he is annihilated or forced to capitulate."

Further successes were gained on the southern end of the front, it was claimed, as German, Rumanian and Hungarian troops broke desperate resistance by weak rear-guard detachments and pursued the beaten foe.

The Germans annihilated a whole Soviet division in the Mogilev area on July 19, it was said, and crushed the remnants of five Red divisions in the north where four thousand were killed, other thousands surrendered, and a large amount of booty was taken.

GREAT SUCCESS IN V-CAMPAIGN

has appeared on the Eiffel Tower in Paris. Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, Völkischer Beobachter published a picture of a 30-foot "V" painted on the cobble of the streets of Prague. The big question of the day for correspondents in Berlin, Smith said, is: "What does the 'V' stand for?"

The fact that Goebbels has appropriated the "V," British informants said, will simplify matters for pro-British elements in various occupied countries. Pointing out that more than 6,000 "V" arrests were reported last week in Paris alone, they said that persons taken into custody in the future would merely have to say they had painted "V" for a German "Viktoria" instead of for a British victory.

Numerous cases of sabotage were reported. A 22-car German munitions train was reported blown up near Presov, Czechoslovakia, while an 11-car German train carrying workmen to Czechoslovakia from Italy was derailed with heavy loss of life. Most observers in London believed these incidents were more than coincidences.

Britain herself took the campaign with utmost seriousness. Newspapers were filled with "Vs" from first page to last. Throughout the islands, thousands of buses, autos and trains were snared and chalked with the letter. Brixton prison—where five column suspects are held—was liberally chalked on the outside.

Fingers outstretched to form a "V" became a regular street greeting and was the only acceptable toast in pubs, cafes and restaurants. The morning press conference at the ministry of information was opened by a special train carrying the letter "V" in Morse code—three dots and a dash. This procedure will be adopted at all company meetings.

Representatives of many oppressed countries meeting in London allied themselves with the campaign. Numerous shopkeepers, especially tobaccoists, refused to serve customers who neglected to rap out the signal before giving their order.

Members of the House of Commons are planning to ask Bracken to consider regular use of the Morse "V" as the time signal on foreign broadcasts. Searchlight units framed their beams last night into giant "Vs" above the London skyline.

Bracken replaced Alfred Duff Cooper as minister of information in a cabinet shakeup announced by Prime Minister Winston Churchill to give new life and vigor to Britain's press, radio and movie propaganda.

the world, for that answer will largely determine the length of the war.

Believe Germany Made Mistake

"I am convinced Germany lost the war the day she attacked Russia. But it can still be a hard war of many years' duration if the Russians crack after Moscow goes."

"But if the nation continues to offer organized resistance after Moscow is taken, then the end is in sight for Germany."

"My sole reason for this opinion is a military one. I am sure that if organized resistance continues after the fall of Moscow, the Germans with all their great staff work will be beaten positively and hopelessly by transport and supply problems."

"There is no question in my mind as to whether Moscow will be taken. The question is in what manner it will be taken."

"If it is taken in a smashing rout of the Russian armies, I fear collapse will come, because the thing which will determine continued resistance will be the feeling of the people as to whether they are hopelessly beaten or not."

"But if the Germans have a hard fight all the way, with continued heavy losses, and the Russians can withdraw in any order and in any force, I believe the Soviet will fight on."

Announcing the Installation of A SPECIALLY DESIGNED DRY CLEANSING UNIT for Delicate Garments

The reason for the installation of this new unit is easily explained when it is taken into consideration that the materials in the finer garments, more and more during the past few years, are of a synthetic nature, and, therefore, require extreme care in the cleansing process.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS END CONVENTION

toastmaster, Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church offered the invocation.

Congressman Poage

The principal speaker at the banquet was Congressman William Robert Poage, a young man from the plains of Texas. He spoke glowingly of the work of the Young Democrats over the country, lauded the administration of President Roosevelt and urged thorough preparedness as a means of insuring peace for this nation.

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, national committee woman from Pennsylvania was the other speaker. She was bitter in her denunciation of the "America First" movement and scored Colonel Landwehr when she said "I do not accuse him of being a traitor, I do accuse him of having Nazi sympathies. I do not believe that a flying trip across the Atlantic makes an aviator an expert upon international affairs."

A telegram of regret was read from County Commissioner John J. Kane, Pittsburgh, who found it impossible, at the last minute, to attend.

President Yosko

State President Joseph J. Yosko spoke upon the convention and said that he believed it would result in a revival of interest among the younger Democrats. He urged that the young Democrats of this district co-operate with other parts of the state in getting out registration and thus cut down the 500,000 majority the Republicans hold.

A number of guests were introduced from the speakers' table with all of them merely acknowledging the introduction, but not speaking. The ball started about 10:15 and lasted until midnight.

SOME INSIGHT GIVEN INTO STRENGTH OF RED
ARMY BY HUGE BATTLE

Facts concerning the red army revealed by a month of war add up to the classic verdict of Napoleon on another Russian army of another day, "the more it changes the more it remains the same." After a century and a quarter of wars and a major social revolution the Russian army remains today much as the little corporal found it.

About Same As Napoleon's Time

Virtues of the Russian army today as in Napoleon's time are in fanatical valor of its soldiers and the huge masses of men it is able to put into the field. Its weakness now as then is the stolidity and ignorance of its lower officers and the men in its ranks. Time has not altered these conditions, but ignorance is much more costly in the war of today than it was in that of 125 years ago.

It is difficult for the inhabitants of the United States with the background of the world's greatest educational system, to comprehend conditions in the country from which the Russian army springs. Among the old upper classes and in high bureaucratic circles today are to be found the highest levels of education, sophistication and intelligence. Among the masses was and apparently is ignorance almost inconceivable.

Consequently the Russian army through its military history has been one of tremendous contrasts. Many of its higher officers have been brilliant. Kuropatkin, the czar's military brain-truster of the 1890s, was pronounced by the elder Molke to possess the best military mind since Napoleon. Brusiloff, of World War fame, was one of the most capable generals that participated in that struggle.

Densely Ignorant

But Russian private soldiers of World War vintage were densely ignorant. The writer of this column remembers being informed with pride by the colonel of a crack imperial guard regiment that all his non-commissioned officers could read and write. The bolts of Russian rifles of the day were made extra heavy so that powerful but clumsy fingers could not tear them apart.

In Russia, no general understanding of machinery exists, such as is found in America. Almost every American boy learns to drive and repair the family car. Most complicated mechanical device the Russian youngster ever sees is a wheel-barrow. Stories filtering back in military circles tell how this handicapped the Soviet's armies. When the pilot and co-pilot of a tank are killed other members of the crew can seldom drive and the tank is lost. Or if a slight defect disables a motor vehicle, its crew is unable to make repairs.

Written orders are often uncomprehended. In the days of the czar less than one in ten of the Russians could read and write. The Soviets made energetic efforts to change this, but 20 years is not enough to educate a nation. Recent Soviet statistics show that only 9,391,718 children out of approximately 50,000,000 of school age were attending school. That is less than one in five, and may perhaps have been exaggerated for propaganda purposes at that.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the navy department.

army at the start of the Chaco war. Belmonte later performed the same function with General Busch. Currently, he is the air attaché at the Bolivian legation in Berlin.

It is said that Belmonte's association with Nazi agents dates from the time he was a prisoner of war in Paraguay.

Extensoro was arrested during the night, and a number of other arrests are expected.

Miss Gordon Holmes Declares, "We Have Faith In Ourselves"

More than 175 Business and Professional Women, members of the local service clubs, British war relief workers, and out of town guests were deeply impressed Saturday evening when they gathered in the New Castle Field club to hear Miss Gordon Holmes, dynamic London banker and president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Great Britain and Ireland, give a first-hand outlook of the war in England and were stirred when she related the perils and hardships of the people there and repeated their slogan, "We Have Faith In Ourselves."

In her gracious yet forceful manner, Miss Holmes, whose home and office are in London, and whose second home is America, told that only one per cent of the London people have been wounded and that ninety-nine per cent are going on with their regular daily routine despite the bells ringing, whistles blowing, and other noises, each meaning an air raid, a blackout, or some other wartime klutz.

Although everything is steelproof, waterproof, and bombproof, yet not mouseproof, the most impressive incident in World War Number Two to Miss Holmes is the blackout. At this time every man, woman, and child grabs his or her gas mask and runs for shelter, knowing all is well as long as the sound of Big Ben is heard.

Business houses in London have moved uptown and work goes on, but not as usual of course. The food situation in England is not alarming, potatoes, pork and beans, meat, and of course their tea, which is weak but welcome. Miss Holmes, who is a member of the national committee of mental hygiene, and finance chairman of one hospital in London, was glad to relate that the people are taking the bombing and terrors bravely, and hospitals are available for those overcome from the strain.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Great Britain and Ireland are giving their all in this catastrophe, and one new club has been organized every three weeks since the beginning of the war, giving aid throughout the democracy. These clubs have series of queries on the past, present and next war, discussions of the conscription of women, and support to the women in parliament.

After attending the American play "Thunder Rock", which is a five-star hit in London, and after reading Carl Sandberg's best-seller "Abraham Lincoln, The War Years", Miss Holmes is positive that the English people, "who are the living will not escape from life", but, like Lincoln, will fight for their convictions and win, for they have faith in themselves.

Miss Mary Bigley, president of the New Castle Business and Professional Women's club, who was introduced by Miss Evelyn Spencer, program chairman, gave a most cordial welcome to Miss Holmes and her guests.

Per singing was enjoyed by the group under the direction of Miss Olive Webb and Miss Theodora Pollock at the piano. Unusually attractive centerpieces and summer flowers throughout the room formed a beautiful setting for the delightful affair.

Mrs. James Rugh, popular and talented contralto, favored with the numbers "Clouds" by Ernest Charles, "Hard Trials" by Burleigh, and "The American Lullaby" by Gladys Rich, formerly of New Castle, Mrs. Paul Welsh, well known pianist, was her accompanist.

After Dr. Mildred Rogers, who introduced the speaker of the evening, expressed her thanks for such an enlightening address, questions on the war were answered by Miss Holmes, concluding the program the group arose and sang "God Bless America" with Mrs. Rugh closing by singing lullabies.

Such an enjoyable and pleasant evening was due to the efforts of Miss Mary Bigley and the following committees: decorations, Miss Bess Galey; hostesses, Miss Florence Davis; program, Miss Evelyn Spencer; and reservations, Mrs. R. L. Boyd.

Members of the Step-Ahead club entertained their husbands at a ham fry at Cascade Park Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock. After a tasty menu was served, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lockard, on Blaine street, where 500 was in play. High score prizes were awarded to Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. James Shaffer and Earl White.

In the late evening a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. White and Mrs. Wagner.

On Wednesday, July 23, the club will be entertained by Mrs. Earl White, in her Ray street home.

QUIZ for WIVES

Question: Do You Still Pre-Soak Clothes for Your Washer?

Answer: Save That Tiresome Separate Soaking—With Today's Oxydol

A preliminary soaking may once have been necessary to get clothes clean. But it certainly isn't with today's OXYDOL in your washer.

This soap is marvelous. It has a rich extra ingredient most soaps don't have. What a difference!

So don't bother with preliminary soaking. Just tumble the clothes right into the washer. Oxydol draws out dirt while the washer runs. Yes, it dissolves dirt! Your wash comes clean—sparkling clean!

Change to Easier Washdays The No Pre-Soak, No Rub, No Bleach Way

What about collars and cuffs? Take a minute to wet extra-dirty places and work in a little extra Oxydol. Then toss right in the washer. That way Oxydol gets even grimy dirt. There isn't any heavy rubbing left! You just put through the washer, and rinse.

So change to easier washdays with Oxydol—No Pre-Soaking, except for wetting an occasional special piece. No needless hard rubbing. And a wash that's gleaming white without bleaching.

While you may want to use bleach for stains or unusual pieces, you'll be amazed by the sparkling whiteness of your wash without bleaching.

So change to easier washdays. Just machine the clothes, and rinse. You can the OXYDOL way.

If You Don't Use a Washer—Oxydol Soaks Dirt Loose in 10 Minutes —No Washboard Scrubbing!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T INSTILL FEAR IN CHILD

The following from a mother's letter eloquently and dramatically illustrates the lasting and destructive effects which fears over failures, especially at school, may have on the growing child.

Dear Dr. Myers: My father was very strict and I might say overbearing with his children. I started to school with a terrible fear of grown folks.

"I was always afraid that if I made a mistake someone would scold me. As a result, all I did in my first three years was make mistakes. My fourth grade teacher, however, seemed to understand me and I was able to work myself into second place in a class of about 30 pupils.

Blames Teachers

"Then my fifth grade teacher was so lax that her leading pupil was a girl that cheated in everything.

"Sixth and seventh grades were a nightmare. I had the same teacher for both grades and she was my Dad over again. You can imagine what happened to me then. Even though I graduated from high school, I can't figure to this day how I did it.

"I am in my late thirties and I still have that old fear that has been a drawback to me, both in the business world and in my own home. Fortunately, I had an office position with a man who had a great deal of confidence in me. It was a position where I had to assume the responsibility and go ahead during his absence.

Held Back by Old Fears

"I handled it successfully for five years, but when I thought for more money I found that the old fear returned when I had to work among other girls and under a boss. I have never been able to hold a permanent position since and I know it is just a case of fear."

Obviously this young woman is both intelligent and hard-working. She knows that her childhood fears have held her back and is now successfully correcting them. But parents should be careful not to instill fear of this type in children. It is a hard stumbling block to overcome.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Are there publications by the federal government on the choice of right foods for the family?
A. Yes, and the best one to ask for, and it is free, is "Eat the Right Food," to be had by writing to the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. I wish every one who reads this column would write a post card at once to Washington for that pamphlet.

From the same address you can get facts about enriched flour and bread.

Q. My boy of twelve has wanted a pair of rabbits for months. At last he got them after he and his father had built a hutch for them. For the first four days he faithfully cared for these rabbits and spent much time watching them. Then he gradually lost interest, sometimes forgetting to feed and water them. Now he rarely feeds them unless driven to do so. What do you advise?

A. Inform him that he must care for these rabbits regularly and that if he does not, but continued to neglect them, even forgetting to feed them once, you will dispose of them (not kill them). Then keep your word. For a child to have the privilege of calling a pet his without taking responsibility for its care, in case he is able to do so, is harmful to the moral character of the child.

SUMMER COTTAGE DUTIES

Again I ask for strength and grace My summer cottage tasks to face:

To open windows when it's warm And run to close them 'gainst the storm.

To go for ice and clean the fish And gratify each fondest wish;

For guests provide the bathing suits The rods and reels and wading boots;

The ivy poison antidote, The arms and back to row the boat.

Day clerk and night clerk, I shall see Rest comes to every one but me.

As butler on the guests I'll wait, Nor miss to see them clean the plate.

As bus boy I shall carry out Wet bathing suits they leave about.

Since "Always room for just one more!" I'll often sleep upon the floor.

And be (how Nellie loves to boast!) To one and all the perfect host.

Hints On Etiquette

If you are waiting for service at a hotel or restaurant table, it is correct to read a paper or book.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:24; sun rises tomorrow 4:49.

It will be interesting to see what they will do in Washington about daylight saving time. It is causing a lot of trouble in this country.

When a book agent in Pittsburgh could not make a sale he drew a gun and robbed some people. Those book agents sure do get tough when they cannot pull their stuff.

There have not been many changes in the styles of bathing suits this year. Not enough cloth in them to make any changes.

Mrs. Hum says the things Hi says makes her face so red she passes up the beauty parlor.

Mark Twain said: "Don't like the cat, try to get more out of an experience than there is in it. The cat, having sat upon a hot stove-lid, will not sit upon a hot stove-lid again. Nor upon a cold stove-lid."

Except a living man there is nothing more wonderful than a book—a message to us, perhaps, from the dead—from human souls whom we never saw, who lived, perhaps, thousands of miles away, and yet these, in those little sheets of paper, speak to us, amuse us, terrify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers—

A man without patience is a lamp without oil.—Musset.

Great men are medals which God marks with the stamp of their century.

He that swells in prosperity will be sure to shrink in adversity.—Colton.

Old Lady: "How often do big ships like this sink?"
Captain: "I think about once would be enough."

An artist's career always begins tomorrow.—Whistler.

Fools rush in to park where angels fear to drive.

Every ear is tickled with the sweet music of applause.—Barrow.

Note to the Turks: All turkeys are treated as friends till somebody is ready for a feast.

Maybe our dollar-a-year men think that was the limit placed on their spending.

No wonder Communists are that way. You can't about-face with such rapidity without getting dizzy.

Refrigerators now have everything the heart could desire, except a little window to let you see whether the light goes out.

Happiness is like the mirage in the desert; she tantalizes us with a delusion that distance creates and that continuity destroys.

Oh, goody! America's few thousand Reds are going to let the rest of us have some defense tools.

I think that I shall never see A billboard lovely as a tree. And, unless the billboards fall, I'll never see a tree at all.

In some places where school teachers march draftees they are allowed to teach while their husbands are in the service. That's very much all right.

So far no auto junk yards have been eliminated yet much to furnish war materials.

Americans will not be so hot to go to Canada if they have trouble getting gasoline. That is one of the things they will need the most.

Yesterday the Hints and Dints man was going through some of his more or less valuable papers and found the following written on an envelope: "The cash in this envelope was earned by me in the corn fields of the county during the war and I have never seen any one suffering as much as I did while earning it. If I had I would have given them this money." We were on a team of seven men that went out one day a week in the summer of 1917 and worked for the farmers. We still have the money just as it was paid to us.

Hysteria repeats itself. The world will never go to ruin for the want of advice. Any movement to make common sense popular may be as well postponed until after the war.

Just what would Hitler want with this country after the money is all gone?

"His whole family is gifted. His dad can blow smoke rings and spit through 'em!"

First Golfer: "Comfound it, sir, you nearly hit my wife."
Second Golfer: "Did I? Well, have a shot at mine."

The foundation of every noble character is absolute sincerity.

Judge: "Do you challenge any of the jury?"
On Trial: "Well, I think I can lick that little guy on the end."

Decay begins with complete satisfaction.

Mr. A: "I bought a hat for my wife and had to run all the way home."

There is already talk of a special session of the Pennsylvania legislature later on. The present one cost the people about two million dollars and a special session will cost half a million. Seems to us our legislature is too expensive.

Point Out Subversive Stuff In Textbooks
Studebaker Is Looking For Inaccuracies
National Association Helps With Checkup

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 21.—John W. Studebaker, federal education commissioner, in the overhauling he's giving to America's school textbooks, is after asserted inaccuracies. The investigation the National Education association has just started is for the purpose of spotting subversive matter in particular.

The N. E. A.'s quiz may be no more than Commissioner Studebaker's. Many of the mistakes he finds are likely to prove to be unintentional ones. The association's after deliberately disloyal literature.

When the commissioner discovers an error, he can only point it out, because public education's under the various states' local control. Presumably they'll make corrections at his suggestions, but, as an official of the central government, he can't dictate.

For that matter, the N. E. A. can't dictate, either. Nevertheless, it's the country's strongest organization of its kind, with headquarters and a large staff in Washington. Its membership consists of actual teachers. When it puts its finger upon a sample of outright disloyalty, that specimen will find it exceedingly difficult to avoid erasing itself. At its last convention in Boston the committee named a committee of 60 to handle the job. Besides public schools' teachings, this committee will dig into 'em in private ones and in colleges. It also will do more than merely read books. It will go on the trail of individual teachers and groups of 'em, who pump disloyalty into their pupils—such stuff as Communism, Nazism, Fascism, Palangism, Anarchism, et cetera.

Well, all right. It's highly commendable in the N. E. A. to undertake the task of stopping the education of kids into the idea that the ends sought by these miscellaneous philosophies are desirable.

Why Not Explain?

But it doesn't follow that the kids shouldn't be told what said philosophies ARE. The more fully THAT's explained to 'em, the better they'll understand how and what to steer clear of. Keeping 'em in ignorance of what's bad doesn't seem to me the right way to go about it.

I once had a little daughter, now grown up, who attended a school in which one of her instructors was a very pronounced Socialist. It was before Nazism amounted to much, but that teacher foreshadowed it accurately.

She fed some detail of her politico-economic doctrine into my little girl's system daily. Every time she did so, as soon as she got home, the small damsel would relate to me what she'd been told and ask me my opinion of it. Or, come, being 100 per cent democratic, I'd make her see why that notion was pure hooey.

Why, that teacher gave me more valuable hints as to the things my child's mind ought to be fortified against than a whole faculty of democratic educators could have done.

Now that she's grown up and married several rip-roaring good Democrats have remarked to me how enlightened my daughter's politico-economic views are. They didn't give me any of the credit for it, though. I wasn't entitled to it, either. The credit was due to her Nazi-ideated teacher—in reverse, of course.

I told the above story to one of the guys, to be sure. He's been roasting totalitarian influences in education, so I related my own experience.

"Oh, well," he said, "that's an exceptional case. A lot of papas ain't like you."

Let's Have Ventilation

All the same, I believe in ventilation.

No, I'm not intimating that the National Educational association's committee of 60 will do anything but a right outright misrepresentation and genuine advocacy of undemocratic system of one sort or another.

But surely it shouldn't adopt a hush-hush policy.

When some kind of a noxious germ in the atmosphere, ignoring it isn't the best method of staving off the insect. It needs to be understood to be guarded against.

Not exactly that I'm in favor of encouraging its carriers, like that teacher I've been telling about. And yet the bug needs to be studied in laboratories of some sort, even if only for the purpose of recognition, in order to exterminate it.

Happigrams

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A few days ago two of New Orleans' busy ferryboats had to make detours around a fellow who was swimming contentedly in the middle of the Mississippi river.

The irate captain tooted and tooted, but the chap just waved and kept on swimming.

Finally, officers took him ashore. When asked why he insisted on obstructing the ferry lanes, he replied, "Oh, it's just a nice place to swim and I like it!"

The World and the Mud Puddles

NO SHORTAGE OF SUGAR

Those whose memories go back to another war, with the hoarding and parcelling of sugar, will welcome the news that this war-time emergency is to see no repetition of that story.

According to an executive of one of the largest of our sugar concerns, plenty of reserve stocks are now available. Producers' supply of beet sugar is very high. Cane refiners' inventories are normal. Stocks of sugar in the hands of retailers and wholesalers are considerably above normal. And there is no reason to anticipate a runaway price for sugar.

If the government finds prices rising too fast, it can increase the quotas under the Sugar Control act and open the gates to more imports from Cuba or elsewhere. The recent small rise in the price, it is said, was attributable to increased shipping freight rates from some of the principal producing areas.

Housewives may go about their canning and preserving as usual; you can have two or four lumps of sugar in your coffee, and candy will keep its sweet place in the market.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

LONDON—Harry Hopkins, supervisor of the United States' lease-lend program paints an optimistic picture of America's war production and adds: "It is the purpose of our productive effort and that is the only purpose—to whip this fellow Hitler."

NEW YORK—John T. Flynn of the America first committee deplores extending the service of selectees to more than one year. "You know, you must know, now that you are being prepared for a part in one of the most terrible wars in history and that if you go into it you must be ready to send not a few draftees, not a million, but millions of men and women, must be prepared to see hundreds of thousands of them die."

CHICAGO—Mrs. I. B. Wise Smith, president of the National W. C. T. U., suggests a national defense measure. "If all the aluminum cocktail shakers were added to the defense collection, there would be a very sizeable addition to the scrap pile, besides other very beneficial results."

AUBURN, N. Y.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicates a National Youth Administration resident center. "Many of us here are very much concerned with the possibility of being asked to die for democracy, but living for it is very much harder, for it means actually feeling the sense of responsibility imposed on that democracy. We are living at a time when, as never before, we have to discipline ourselves."

IF YOU NEED $100 HERE'S WHAT TO DO

How to borrow cash quickly and simply and repay in monthly installments which fit your own income

CAN YOU make good use of $100? Investigate our loan plans today. Household Finance offers three simple ways for you to borrow up to $300. Your loan will be made the way which best suits your own situation.

1. Signature loans. No security needed. These loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples.

2. Auto loans. A loan on your car may best fit your needs.

3. Furniture loans. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Many borrowers use this plan.

No endorsers needed

Whichever way you borrow, it is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get the loan you need simply, privately and speedily.

You may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments as shown in the table. Monthly installments of $9.75 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. Or as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay $100.

Borrow for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. It's good business to compare rates before you borrow.

If you need money, here's what to do. Come to Household. Or just phone and say you need a loan. We're here to serve you. Phone or visit us today without obligation.

Governor May Call Conference On Milk Bill

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 21.—Gov. Arthur H. James may call a conference of interested parties on the Moul-Woodring milk inspection bill before deciding what action to take on the controversial measure approved by the legislature, the chief executive disclosed today.

The governor said he has not as yet taken the bill under consideration and therefore has not had a chance to formulate any opinions as to its merits. He has 30 days in which to approve or veto the measure.

J. Paul Pedigo, the governor's secretary, said "several" letters, mostly in opposition to the bill, had been received by the governor.

The Moul-Woodring bill sets up a unified system of state regulations from milk inspections, effective September 1, 1942.

Dies Plans For New Hearings

Says C. I. O. Leaders And Government Officials Are To Be Summoned

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 21.—Rep. Dies (D), Texas, today announced he will ask the un-American activities committee of which he is chairman to subpoena 600 or 700 C. I. O. leaders and "about 2,000 government officials to get to the bottom of this trend toward totalitarianism in the United States."

At the same time the Texan predicted Italy that Russia and Germany will end their war soon, stating: "I expect them to get together perhaps in a few days."

Dies made the statements in a press conference held after his arrival in Washington from Texas where he was an unsuccessful candidate for the United States Senate. The chairman will call his committee together some time this week to plan a series of hearings which will continue daily for two or three months, he declared.

"I will ask the committee that we subpoena between 600 and 700 C. I. O. leaders and members and have a show-down on the question of their affiliations and their continual changes in following the Communist party line," Dies said.

I also will ask that we hear from 2,000 government officials. There is a strong trend toward totalitarianism—toward state socialism—in this country and we ought to find out about it.

"Whichever way the war goes we're going to have the worst depression in history and then the people will see clearly what a vital problem this is. We haven't been able to see it very clearly up to now because it has been a very slow process."

Predicting a speedy end of the Russo-German war Dies said:

"I expect Hitler and Stalin to get together, perhaps in a few days. I think Stalin will make terms rather than risk the occupation of all of Russia by German troops. I think Hitler will get out of this the Ukraine and the natural resources he wants."

Dies said that his committee has

"lots of new evidence" about many matters which he plans to go into when hearings begin. These, he said, will include the C. I. O. affiliation, sabotage and espionage throughout the country, and the activities of the Japanese on the West Coast.

Dies has already asked for a state investigation of the recent Texas senatorial elections, charging violation of the Hatch act, limiting the expenditure of money in political campaigns. He said today that he had no plans to call for a federal investigation.

KANSAS CITY FINDS IT HAS NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT

(International News Service) HOUSTON, July 21.—Kansas City found it was making an annual profit of only $12,000 on its dog license law and city dog pound. That didn't seem very efficient. So Roy W. Wilson, administrative assistant to the city manager of Kansas City, wrote to City Controller W. H. Maunsell of Houston. Wilson pointed out that it cost them about $14,000 yearly to run the Kansas City dog pound, and they took in about $26,000 a year from dog licenses. That left a profit of only $12,000. Could Houston offer any suggestions?

Maunsell's answer was that it cost Houston $16,000 to run its pound; Houston got only $3,000 from license fees; and therefore had a net loss, not a profit, of $13,000. Could Kansas City offer Houston any suggestions?

Bradford Youth Killed In Crash

Two Others Injured When Coupe Plunges Off Highway Last Night

(International News Service) BRADFORD, Pa., July 21.—One Bradford youth was dead and two others lay in an Olean hospital today when a coupe plunged off their convertible coupe plumed off route 17 near Vandalia, N. Y., shortly before last midnight.

John Gifford, 18, was instantly killed, state motor police said, when he and the two injured youths were thrown from the front seat.

John Williams, 20, of Bradford, and Paul Cannon, 29, of near Bradford, were taken to St. Francis hospital, Olean, where Williams was reported in serious condition.

Lawrence B. Mays, 19, Bradford, driver of the car, suffered minor injuries. Mays told police he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car.

New York state trooper Dan Biley reported that the Mays car was traveling west on a left curve when it crashed into a cable fence, hurled a railing and plunged over a 10-foot embankment.

Cornor C. J. Hosmer, Olean, ruled the death accidental.

C. I. O. Leaders Urge Government Take Over Bendix Plant

(International News Service) BENDIX, N. J., July 21.—C. I. O. leaders today awaited President Roosevelt's answer to their plea that the federal government "take over" the strike-bound plant of Air Associates Inc. "until such time as the company decides to cooperate with national defense."

In a letter to the President, Loren J. Houser, regional director of the aircraft division of the United Automobile Workers, urged immediate government intervention on the grounds that the work stoppage was "due directly to the company's refusal to abide by the provisions of the National Labor Relations act."

Houser's decision to ask government seizure, made following a meeting of the New Jersey executive committee of the U. A. W. aircraft division, came as a surprise in view of the opposition voiced by organized labor last June when the President ordered troops to break the North American Aviation walk-out in California.

Four Killed In Plunge Of Plane

(International News Service) SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 21.—So completely demolished was a four-engine biplane when it crashed into three feet of water at Mission Bay near San Diego, killing four persons, at civil aeronautics inspectors today despaired of learning the cause of the tragedy.

Witnesses said the ship emerged from a cloudbank at about a 750-foot altitude and plunged full-speed into the shallow end of the bay. Dead were Walter Van Orden, 43, of Pasadena, and Robert Maguire Young, 36, Los Angeles insurance brokers; Pilot Walter Higgins, 25, San Diego, and Co-pilot Willis Dirdal, 20, San Diego.

The two brokers had chartered the plane for a trip to Los Angeles Saturday night.

HEAVY FIGHTING MARKS DEFENSE OF MOSCOW, KIEV

fighting continued on four major fronts and added that Russian guerrillas behind the German lines were inflicting "heavy losses" on the Nazis.

No Air Raids On Moscow

(Editor's note: A dispatch by Alexander Werth, special Moscow correspondent for the Reuters (British) news agency, stated that despite foreign reports to the contrary the Soviet capital has not yet experienced any air raids.)

The Soviet communiqué also claimed destruction of 25 German planes "in the first part of Sunday" and the aerial sinking of a German torpedo boat in the Baltic sea.

Describing operation in the battle areas covering the defenses of Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev, the communiqué stated:

"At one point a Red Army infantry division surrounded and annihilated a large enemy motorized formation, capturing 189 trucks, five tanks, four armored cars, two planes and six heavy guns."

"At another point our troops surrounded a concentration of enemy tanks and destroyed 300 enemy trucks and two divisions of heavy artillery."

The communiqué said heavy fighting continued in the Pskov, Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Novograd-Volynsk sectors.

On the Pskov sector guarding Leningrad, the communiqué indicated, the Germans renewed their furious attacks but were meeting implacable resistance.

Soviet Radio Says Mussolini Shot At During Big Review

(International News Service) MOSCOW, July 21.—An attempt on the life of Premier Mussolini was reported today by the official Moscow radio, quoting dispatches from the Italo-Swiss frontier.

The radio broadcast said the unsuccessful attempt against Il Duce occurred when Mussolini was reviewing troops preparing to leave for the eastern front from Ferrara. Two shots were fired at Mussolini by a monarchist officer, according to this account.

Another broadcast by the Moscow radio said German plans to seize the Turkish Dardanelles within "five to seven days."

per claimed that even some members of the Nazi Gestapo (secret police) have enlisted against the Reich under the "army of the V" and are playing havoc with German military and industrial organization.

The British radio pronounced the V campaign a complete success.

(Writing from Norway, a correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said many Norwegians are displaying the victory V in their coat lapels. This dispatch said German authorities and officials of the Quisling government as a counter-measure declared that V means a German victory.

The dispatch added hundreds of Norwegians trade union leaders have been arrested for trying to prevent union funds from coming under control of the Quisling regime.)

Most Important Change

The British cabinet shift involving Duff Cooper and Bracken was the most important change announced. Another change involved Harold Nicolson, noted literary critic and author, who was named governor of the government-operated British Broadcasting company, moving up from the position of parliamentary secretary to the information ministry.

Richard A. Butler, parliamentary under-secretary of foreign affairs, was shifted to the presidency of the board of education.

Duff Cooper, frequently criticized for not keeping pace with German propaganda, was named chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. It was announced he will proceed to the Far East, "charged with the task of examining on behalf of the war cabinet the present arrangements for consultation and co-ordination between the various British authorities . . . and of reporting how the arrangements can be made more effective."

Lord Hankey, replaced by Duff Cooper as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, was named paymaster general, a post vacant since the last major reorganization of Churchill's cabinet.

Bracken, the new information minister, is 40 years old. Born and educated in Australia, he is an experienced financial journalist and a conservative member of the House of Commons. He has long served as Churchill's private secretary and thus has been in close touch with both the prime minister and members of the war cabinet.

were to make it possible for us to maintain our present full effective strength and during the coming year give training to as many additional Americans as we can . . ."

Definite Responsibility

The Chief Executive furthermore told the legislative branch that the United States has a definite responsibility to every other country in the western hemisphere—which responsibility would be dissolved if the army was to be weakened by inadequate training.

"To weaken our army at this particular time would be, in my judgment, an act of bad faith toward our neighbors," he said.

Mr. Roosevelt recognized the personal sacrifices which the many thousands of selectees, guardsmen and reserves are making, but he expressed confidence that the men in the ranks of the army "realize far better than does the general public the disastrous effect" of permitting the army "to melt away."

He said it was not surprising that millions of patriotic Americans find it difficult to disrupt their normal lives but he noted that "it is hard for most of us to bring events many thousands of miles away into focus with our readily-accepted and normal democratic ways of living."

"That is why I must refer again to the sequence of conquests—German conquests or attacks—which have continued uninterruptedly through several years all the way from the coup against Austria to the present campaign against Russia," the President continued.

Simultaneously, Mr. Roosevelt promised that selectees and guardsmen who have reached the age of 28 would be transferred from active service to reserve status as rapidly as possible.

Made Transcription

Before dispatching the message to congress, Mr. Roosevelt made a special transcription of it, reading the speech himself for later broadcast to this nation by the major chains, and to be short-waved by the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting system and WJVO, Cincinnati, O.

"Every move up and down and across Europe, and into Asia, and into Africa has been conducted according to a time schedule utilizing in every case an overwhelming superiority not only in materials but in trained men as well," the president told congress.

"Each campaign has been based on a preliminary assurance of safety or non-aggression to the intended victim. Each campaign has been based on disarming fear and gaining time until the German government was fully ready to throw treaties and pacts to the winds and simultaneously to launch an attack in overwhelming force."

Issue Comes Closer

"Each elimination of a victim has brought the issue of Nazi domination closer to this hemisphere, while month by month their intrigues of propaganda and conspiracy have sought to weaken every link in the community of interests that should bind the Americas into a great western family."

"I do not think that any branch of the government of the United States will be willing to let America risk the fate which has destroyed the independence of other nations," Mr. Roosevelt said.

The president urged that congress, in order to reduce individual hardships to a minimum, ask employers to keep jobs open for their employees detained in the army.

On his part he promised to return to civil life all officers and men whose retention on active duty would impose undue hardship.

The president concluded his grave message as follows: "One final word: Time counts. Within two months disintegration, which would follow failure to take congressional action, will commence in the armies of the United States. Time counts. The responsibility rests solely with the congress."

Germany Planning New Aggressions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles today revealed the United States government has information indicating Germany plans new aggressions on the continent of Europe.

At his press conference, the secretary asserted that this information leads the American government to believe that Germany contemplates attack on other independent European countries. Welles did not specify what nations are in danger of a new Nazi drive, but it was recalled that Army Chief of Staff Gen. George C. Marshall last week hinted of a possible Axis move on Spain and possibly Portugal.

COMMUTER CHALKS UP 50 YEARS OF DAILY TRAVELING

(International News Service)

BOSTON—Fifty years a commuter on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad between Canton and Boston, Ernest M. Leavitt, 65, Canton, wants to ride in a new locomotive.

In an impromptu ceremony at South station on the occasion of Leavitt's final ride as a commuter, Howard S. Palmer, president of the railroad, greeted the honored passenger and presented him with an appropriately inscribed billfold.

He is a native of Canton and started riding on the trains of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad between that community and Boston in 1891 while a student. He continued to commute via the railroad until his retirement as an assistant cashier of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

Palmer, when informed Leavitt would like to ride on one of the new locomotives, promised the privilege would be accorded him as soon as possible.

British Armored Divisions On Par With Panzer Men

Only On Numerical Basis Do British Divisions Fall Short

ARE EAGER TO MEET GERMANS

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service
War Correspondent

WITH BRITISH PANZER DIVISIONS, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—Eager to meet the enemy, Britain's own armored divisions today lack only numerical equality with the vaunted "Panzers" of the Reichswehr.

Living and traveling with one of the first cavalry divisions to be mechanized in England—a process only recently started a few years ago—I have been able to study the men and machines that are to meet the most dangerous threat of the German army—Panzer attack.

I can report that the men are ready and able, that their equipment is excellent, but their total strength limited by production lines. The division with which I have lived and traveled in tanks is typical of the set-up of the British armored divisions both at home and overseas.

A British Panzer division contains tanks, armored cars, scout cars, motorcyclists and light reconnaissance vehicles like the Bren-gun carrier, often mistakenly considered a tank.

Supply Organization on Wheels

Its supply organization is completely on wheels, as well as its maintenance equipment, and its supporting division (mechanized infantry units, artillery).

The heart and brains of the Panzer division and its supporting units move about in what is perhaps the largest war vehicle in use today—a huge steel box-car which upon closer scrutiny turns out to be an armored truck with radio masts all over it. Familiarly known as "Herman," these trucks are mobile headquarters for anything from a company to an army corps.

The unnamable division with which I bounced over more than a hundred miles of English countryside is using tanks of such armor plating that it is believed no anti-aircraft gun in use can pierce it. Its speed and maneuverability are phenomenal for its weight and bulk.

Tank Moves Speedily

In a mock attack my particular tank travelled eighteen miles in fifty minutes through tank traps, woods and up hill and down dale. Every tank is equipped with wireless but each squadron of tanks uses its supporting light units as subsidiary communication links with headquarters.

The ten-ton armored cars equipped with secret guns have speeds reaching seventy miles per hour while the Bren-gun carrier does nearly sixty. These are advance elements for the heavy tanks. The mobile artillery units with the Panzer divisions range from eighteen to twenty-five pounders while artillery in the supporting divisions goes on up in calibre.

Has Secret Track

One unmistakable advantage British Panzers have is a new, secret "track" the caterpillar tread on which tanks move, that defies breakage. Most tracks heretofore were good for only a few hundred miles, and often broke on difficult terrain, even when brand new, but the new track, an American design, has not broken under any conditions since it was first put in use months ago.

It is surprising how much of the equipment for Britain's Panzers come from American production lines—but production is not fast enough for the officers and men of the Panzer division here.

When Joseph Park and John Mason Tilford opened a little shop on the lower west side of New York city in 1840, porterhouse steaks sold for 12 cents a pound; fresh beef, 5 to 11 cents; butter 25 cents a pound.

Committee Considering Changes In Tax Bill

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The house ways and means committee met in an unusual secret Saturday session with members plunging in controversy over some provisions of the new $3,500,000,000 tax bill. Major points of controversy were:

1. A proposal to rescind a tentatively-approved provision requiring husbands and wives to file joint income tax returns.

2. Suggestions that the method of computing excess profits taxes be revised and tightened up as requested by President Roosevelt.

3. Proposals that the previously adopted excise, or "hidden" tax schedule be revised by deleting certain items and adding others.

Stiffest fight raged over the mandatory joint return provision which formerly was approved by a vote of 15 to 10. Led by a group from the so-called community property states, a committee faction has been working for several weeks to change enough votes to kill this section.

Under present law husbands and wives are allowed to file individual returns and by doing this often can avoid paying higher surtax rate. Proponents of the mandatory joint return provision point out that the section will net the federal treasury some $300,000,000 in badly needed revenue.

Indications were that the committee will turn down the president's suggestion that excess profits hereafter be computed solely on a firm's invested capital. The group has voted 20 to 4 to permit this tax to be computed either on invested capital or previous average earnings.

In the excise field, some members announced that they will press for a tax on the nation's billboards, while others served notice they will seek to eliminate certain other previously approved hidden levies.

Specifically, it was said, motions will be made against an increase in the tax on wines and against the $5-a-year use tax for automobiles.

Chairman Doughton (D) N. C., meanwhile, announced that all other committee business had been set aside and that the group will drive to report the revenue bill as soon as possible.

It was expected to receive committee approval by the middle of this week and to be presented on the floor of the house on July 28.

Dr. S. E. Irvine Speaks At Union Service In Park

Good Attendance At Union Service; Dr. R. M. Patterson To Speak Next Sunday

There was a good attendance at the union service held in the community building at Cascade park Sunday evening when members of the First United Presbyterian church were in charge. The church pastor, Dr. S. E. Irvine, presented a most interesting sermon on the theme, "A Dweller Among the Tombs."

Dr. Irvine, speaking about the maniac who came down from the mountain sides to create damage, told of persons changing from a life of usefulness to one of uselessness, and turning to restlessness and meditation instead of thoughtfulness.

Dr. Irvine was assisted in the service by Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, who gave a prayer, and by Rev. C. J. Burton, who read scripture. Frank D. Taylor Jr., the church organist, had charge of music. Two special selections were presented by the chorus choir of the church, "Send Out Thy Light" and "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," with Mrs. Muriel Boyd singing the solo part in the second number. Donald M. Scoville and the church ushers were in charge of seating arrangements.

These union services, under the auspices of the New Castle Ministerial association, will continue with Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, as next Sunday evening's speaker.

Indiana Worker Travels 70 Miles A Day To His Job

(International News Service)

GREENWOOD, Ind.—All of the long distance commuters don't live in New York suburbs.

For instance, there is the case of Raymond Blythe of Greenwood, who drives 70 miles to his job five mornings a week and travels the same distance to get home. He's been at it two and one-half years.

Blythe leaves home and heads for Muncie at five o'clock each work day. He goes to work as a surface grinder in a Muncie factory at seven a. m. The whistle blows for him at 3:30 and he is back at his country home by five p. m. He has been late to work only four mornings.

The factory formerly was located in Indianapolis, not far away, and when it went to Muncie, Blythe decided to continue his work but to remain at his rural home.

Blythe's gasoline bill is about $8 a week and he estimates that tires, oil and upkeep amounts to another $2. He believes he has traveled about 100,000 miles getting to Muncie and returning home.

Gangster Guns Given Britain

American Police Consign Captured Weapons To Overseas Service

By JOSEPH THOMAS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON.—Gangsters of the New York and Chicago underworlds are indirectly providing arms and munitions for the defense of Great Britain.

Under recent legislation in the United States the police have been empowered to hand over revolvers and guns seized in raids on gangsters' hideouts, and these with others given by private citizens are now reaching England in considerable quantity.

A recent consignment from the American police included: 2,972 guns, 3,109 revolvers, 286,024 rounds of ammunition, 5,791 steel helmets.

Many Old Souvenirs
Many of these formerly belonged to notorious gangsters. Souvenirs include mauser and luger firearms captured by American soldiers from the Germans in the last war.

It was originally intended that the weapons should be used by private residents in Britain for their personal defense, but it has now been decided that they can best be used by the Home Guards.

FAST NEW ARMS PLANT IS BEING BUILT IN INDIANA

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The largest cartridge case plant in the world is under construction in Indianapolis at an overall cost, including machinery and equipment, of $13,000,000.

The main plant, which will be 2,000 feet by 600 feet in size, will cost $3,000,000, and the machinery and equipment will require expenditure of $10,000,000. The main plant will be a one-story structure, with a "sawtooth" roof, and will be built of brick, concrete and steel.

Owner and operator of the huge cartridge case plant will be the Bridgeport Brass Co.

Plans are under consideration for a large housing project for the defense workers who will be employed at the new plant and at the Curtiss Propeller plant. The cartridge case factory will employ between 3,000 and 5,000 workers.

Completion of the cartridge case plant is not expected for several months, officials said.

Gibraltar Is Impregnable

British Have Greatly Strengthened Defenses Of "Rock"

COULD BLAST ENEMY SHIPS

(International News Service)
GIBRALTAR. — For generations the "Rock" has been synonymous with Britain, and the various suggestions that Britain should abandon this seemingly barren outpost have shaken the people almost as much as the suggestion that the government will be removed to Canada. Few know, however, how near it has come to such a move—how nearly Britain has been to giving this mountain eyrie over to the monkeys that infest its sturdy crags.
But this danger is over now, and the Rock stands firmer and stronger than ever. In recent months while the enemy has concentrated on Egypt, the British have strengthened this outpost until it is now believed impregnable. Nothing can take it from them now, and no foe can either starve or bomb them out. The small sheltered harbor, and the tiny town is protected by guns that are believed able to blast any enemy ship out of existence.
For months now, experts from England have been working on plans for a new Gibraltar, not on the rock, but in the rock, and at last an impregnable town has been built in which hundreds of people may live indefinitely safe from bombs, planes or long range guns.
Canadian Miners Have Helped
It is Canada that is responsible largely for this new miracle of construction. For months Canadian "hard rock" miners have been tearing thousands of feet into the earth through solid rock, opening a way for the amazing town which has been constructed.
This town is three miles long and fourteen hundred feet over-all in height. It has roads, hospitals, cafeterias, stores, offices and rest centers. More than that, it is a complete armament magazine and holds the longest possible siege. Although the majority of women have already been evacuated, the nurses and workers who remain are assured of comfort and decent living conditions. Even a modern movie house has been constructed for their hours of relaxation.

The miners, who are mostly from Quebec and Ontario, have brought their own tried equipment which has been tested out in the Dominion's great mining expansion. A huge mucking machine in expert Canadian hands cleared out the debris, and loaded it into a two ton wagon, still bearing its Quebec license plates. The clipped sentences of French Canadian and the broad accent of Ontario sounded homelike on this outpost of Empire, as the grumpy men dumped their loads to the strains of "Allouette" and other well known Canadian songs.
Even debris is being used in the construction and defense of the new Gibraltar. Muck and rubble is being thrown over the high cliff edge and dumped into the sea, thus forming an even more impenetrable fortress at the base of the rock itself.

Grangers Of County Going To Conneaut

Lawrence county grange families will join with grangers of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio for an all-day picnic outing at Conneaut Lake park Wednesday, July 30.
The affair marks the third annual Conneaut Grange reunion under the sponsorship of the Pomona Grange of Crawford county. Paul McMichael is general chairman for the outing, and states that the Conneaut management has made special rate concessions for the day.
A band concert and fireworks in the evening will climax the celebration.

Report Men More Plentiful In West

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The census bureau today advised women interested in marriage to go west, where men are not only men but they are more plentiful.
The bureau said that its census surveys showed that the ratio of men to women is considerably higher in the west than in the east.
Nevada led the list with 124 men for every 100 women. Others were: Wyoming, 117; Montana, 115; Idaho, 111, and North Dakota, 110.
In the east, Massachusetts had 94 men for every 100 women; Rhode Island, 95; Tennessee, Vermont and New Hampshire, each 99.

U. S. Navy Notes Of Interest Here

Robert W. Washabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Washabaugh, 302 New Castle street, New Wilmington, Pa. was issued transportation orders to report to the Naval Reserve Aviation Base at Philadelphia, Pa. for elimination flight training. The successful completion of the course at Philadelphia will qualify young Washabaugh to finish his aviation training at one of the Navy's three training centers, Pensacola, Jacksonville or Corpus Christi.
Eldon E. Balmer, ward of William K. Foster, Box 151, Enon Valley, Pa., enlisted for a four year term in the United States Naval Reserve. Balmer, a former student at Enon Valley High School also served in the CCC from which service he was honorably discharged.
Howard E. Heffley, Oil City, Pa., and John R. Burgoon, Farrell, Pa., were enlisted in the U. S. Navy to serve during the period of their minority. The above named men were sent to the Naval Training station at Newport, Rhode Island.
As a result of the executive order published recently authorizing the transfer of men of the Coast Guard to the United States Navy, about three thousand enlisted men in the Coast Guard have already been turned over to the Navy to man new Navy transports. The great liner America, renamed USS West Point, requisitioned from the United States Lines and assigned to the United States Navy will probably be manned by some seven hundred Coast Guardsmen.
The Chicago City Council has turned over to the Navy the entire mile-long second floor of Navy Pier, to be used for the training of naval ground aviation units. The council's action was taken in response to a written request by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, and was a move to give Chicago what Secretary Knox called "the biggest naval reserve aviation training station in America".
Later a second step toward making Chicago the nation's largest naval reserve training center was taken when one wing of the new vocational school, covering four blocks on Chicago's south side, was opened. It has equipment for the training of 1,000 naval recruits in ground aviation. Other parts of the school will be operating later in the summer. The school will cost $2,000,000.
Censorship has been formally established by the army and navy over mail sent to or from the bases established in British possessions in the Atlantic ocean. The censorship will apply only to military information. Censoring will be conducted by the army and navy officers.

Funeral Tuesday For William S. Rial

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., July 21.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for William S. Rial, 65, chairman of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control board and prominent western Pennsylvania Republican.
The Westmoreland county GOP leader died shortly after noon Saturday from a heart attack suffered late Friday night.
He had served as head of the state liquor control board since May, 1940, when Gov. Arthur H. James advanced him to the key post from his job as deputy under Attorney General Claude T. Reno.
Rial's influence as head of the liquor system was greater than the post normally affords, as only one other member was then on the board. Governor James failed to fill the third position and Rial and W. Worrell Wagner administered the $80,000,000-a-year liquor monopoly. Rial, as chairman, directed executive policies.
The ruins of Jamestown, Va., first permanent English settlement in the United States, will be preserved exactly as they are uncovered, except possible in occasional instances when complete authenticating data are available.

First Reunion At Henry Home

Former Residents At Home Attend Gathering On Sunday Afternoon

At the Margaret Henry Children's Home, Sunday afternoon, the first annual reunion of former members of the home, was held.
Much time was spent in reminiscing among the members. Pictures of persons and groups connected with the home, that adorn the home rooms walls, attracted much attention, among them being a picture of fifty children, about twenty years ago, carrying the slogan "50 children, $50,000," when that sum was raised to purchase the home.
Quite a number of cameras were used, taking pictures of various groups. The older girls of the Home showed the visitors through the home and grounds, where they marked the progress made in the passing years. The children of the home under the direction of Mrs. Lida Green, the matron, entertained with their cheerful songs.
Jack Gerson helped to serve lunch to the home children, on the lawn; Mayor Mayne donated the soft drinks, and the Model Bakery gave the buns.

A splendid dinner was served about 3:30 to over fifty guests, by Mrs. Green and her efficient staff of aides. Gracing one of the tables was a lovely cake, with the words thereon, "Welcome Home," donated by the board of directors, and a beautiful bouquet of flowers, by Cunningham and Weingartner.

After words of appreciation by Mrs. Green for publicity given the Home of "The News," the latter's representative was asked to cut the cake. Marcus Feuchtwanger, president of the Board of Directors, made an address, giving a hearty welcome to those who "came home" to this reunion, and also thanked Mrs. Green, her aides, Mrs. Castele, and all who helped to make the reunion a success. He also paid tribute to the memory of the late Miss Margaret Henry, founder of the Home.
Mrs. Theodore Castele, who was in charge of arrangements for the reunion, made a short address of welcome, and announced a meeting of former members, after dinner. Mrs. Green thanked Jack Gerson for his kindness in furnishing eye glasses to a number of members of the Home.

At a business meeting of former members of the home, Mrs. Theodore Castele was asked to take charge of the second annual reunion, at the home, on the third Sunday in July, 1942.

Beside those former members who attended from this community, the following were from out of town. Mrs. Elsie Hildebrand, Mr. and Mrs. John Hammon, Mrs. Betsy Kronauer, Mrs. Margaret Harbison, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McDonough, and Mrs. Ann Jackson, of Youngstown; Mrs. Marion Ritter, Pleasantville; Mrs. Priscilla Crista, and Mrs. Clara Mast, Gary, Ind.; Mrs. Ella Kirkade, Richville, Ky.; Mrs. Mary Layman, Coraopolis.

Mrs. Mary Layman, Mrs. Helen Murray, Mrs. Madeline Donegan, Mrs. Mildred Eppinger, who came here with Miss Margaret Henry, from Cleveland to organize the Home, and Mrs. Betsy Kronauer, the first cook at the home, were present.

Of the board of directors present were Marcus Feuchtwanger, Jack Gerson and Sam Klafter, accompanied by their wives.

An orchestra, under the direction of Rooney Eagan, of this city, entertained with music after dinner.

Youth Accused In One Of Crimes

Two Women Found Slain By Similar Means In Two Nearby Towns

MYSTERY MESSAGE REVEALS CRIMES

(International News Service)
READING, Mass., July 21.—Raymond Woodward, 16-year-old junior high school student, today was to be formally charged with the attack-slaying of Constance Shipp, a classmate, whose knife-backed body was found in a Baptist church parsonage less than a block from her home late Saturday.

The youth, who was held without bond over the weekend, was questioned for 10½ hours in the presence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Woodward. He stoutly denied all knowledge of the crime. District Attorney Robert P. Bradford announced that the formal charges would be made later today.

As authorities sought to round up the Shipp case, police in nearby Salem, Mass., hunted the murderer of Frances M. Cochran, 19, Lynn bookkeeper, whose battered body was found yesterday wedged between two rocks in a patch of woods on the Salem-Swampscott city line.

Slayings Similar
There was a remarkable resemblance between the two slayings although authorities insisted that there was no connection. Both girls had been beaten, stabbed, and assaulted. Both were found on anonymous tips after being missing from their homes for several days. The killings were less than 10 miles apart.

Young Woodward, who was caretaker of a temporarily unoccupied parsonage in which the Shipp girl's near-nude body was found, was once convicted of attempted assault but

Low Fields Is Taken By Death
Amusement World Mourns Passing Of Famous Member Of Weber And Fields
(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, July 21.—The amusement world today mourned the passing of Low Fields of the famous vaudeville comedy team of Weber and Fields.
The veteran comedian died yesterday at his Beverly Hills home after an illness of four days. He was 74. Death was due to pneumonia.
With Fields when the end came were his wife, Rose, his children, and his partner of more than 60 years, Joe Weber.
Weber was profoundly affected. "We grew up together," he said. "He was everything to me."
The comedians were mere boys—Fields was only 9—when they began their comedy antics that delighted and convulsed American audiences for more than six decades. They made their first appearance at a ball in New York in 1876 and followed this, a year later, with a formal stage debut, in juvenile Dutch sketches.
Nine years later they had risen to sufficient prominence to form a company of their own and they followed this, in 1898, by opening what was to become, for years, one of the gayest spots on the Great White Way—the famous Weber and Fields Music hall.
They produced and starred in almost a show a year and at the same time made spring tours of the vaudeville circuits from coast to coast. They specialized, with tremendous success, in satires and burlesques on the Broadway stage hits of the day.
Their shows included "The Cicerone," "Under the Red Globe," "Cy-r-o-e," "Zaza," "Fiddle-Dee-Dee," "Quo Vasa Issi," "Hit the Deck," "A Connecticut Yankee" and "Present Arms."
Once, in 1904, they dissolved their partnership, but were back together again a few years later.
Their last appearance in the Weber and Fields characterizations were made a year ago in the picture "Lillian Russell."

Formal Dedication Of Camp On Breakneck Creek Occurs Sunday
Twenty-seven acres of wooded hillside along Breakneck creek were dedicated to the development of young bodies Sunday afternoon when the Polish Falcon children's camp was opened. Present were officers and members of the organization from western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio.
President of the fourth district, Walter A. Pawlak of Pittsburgh, acted as chairman of the dedication services and opened the meeting with a brief address. Others who spoke were national vice president, John Debad of Pittsburgh; Judge Charles Matthews Jr. of Lawrence county, Capt. B. Kaminska, a Pittsburgh editor; Fourth district vice president, Rose Zmudzinski of Pittsburgh; national vice president, Mary Korpanty of Pittsburgh; former district president, Stanley Pilchowski. The camp director, Edward Zolkiewicz, was introduced. Closing the program the crowd sang "America" and "God Bless America."
The camp is a lovely spot near Breakneck bridge. In size it is 27 acres and on it are buildings which will be used as dormitories for the boys and girls who will camp there. The camp expands the athletic program of the Polish Falcons.
Lunch and refreshments were served to the guests and the afternoon was spent in the inspection of the camp and hikes along the creek.
It is estimated that there are 50,000 leaves on a full-grown apple tree.

Rural Poverty Is Not Relieved
Farm Security Administrator Says No Inroads Made Into Rural Poverty
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 21.—C. B. Baldwin, farm security administrator, today warned congress that "the defense boom so far has failed to make any substantial inroads into rural poverty."
Testifying before the Tolan committee investigating interstate migration Baldwin also listed as an important factor in the agricultural situation is the fact that "millions of acres" of land have been taken over by the army for camps and factories.
"As a result of the purchase of these great tracts, thousands of farm families have been displaced," he declared. "The F. S. A. has assisted in the relocation of nearly 9,000 of these families."
Baldwin said that "poverty in farm areas has not been wiped out by defense activities—it still exists and it requires continued assistance."
The F. S. A. administrator listed three principal reasons for the continuance of poor rural conditions:
1. Most defense activity has been carried on in regions least in need of F. S. A. assistance.
2. Most of those aided by F. S. A. are 45 years old or older, and defense activity has in the main aided younger groups.
3. Major long time trends, such as increased farm mechanization, have been working toward rural poverty.
C. B. Palmer, defense housing coordinator, urged that the number of home registration bureaus in defense centers be increased as a means of facilitating the housing of incoming workers.

Price-Control On Baruch Plan Now Forecast
Administration Leader In Congress Says "Freezing" Plan To Be Adopted
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 21.—Price-control legislation based upon the proposal of Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier, for "freezing" prices was forecast today by an important administration leader in congress.
Conceding that price-control legislation is still in the formative stage, this authority asserted that many students of the problem believe that Baruch's plan is the most feasible yet suggested.
On several occasions he has recommended that congress put legislation on the statute books to this effect, to be invoked during war or a similar emergency.
Although Sen. Barkley, Kentucky, Democratic leader, said that price-control legislation probably will be introduced in both senate and house next week, it was indicated that the legislation may be delayed while federal price administrator Leon Henderson and congressional leaders explore the subject further.
Conservative members of congress, it was learned, have informed leaders that any price-control legislation must contain provisions for hearings before prices are "frozen" and for appeal boards. Otherwise, they assert, dictatorial power would be granted to a few men to control the economics of the nation.

Third Week Opens At Boy Scout Camp
Rev. John Stump Delivers Interesting Sermon At Sunday Service
With more than 75 boys expected to register, the third week at Lawrence County Boy Scout camp got underway at noon today.
Ending the second week at scout camp, Rev. John Stump, son of Rev. A. M. Stump, of St. Paul's Lutheran church, delivered an inspiring sermon at the regular Sunday evening church service. "Rations" was used as the theme for the interesting talk.
Because of high water at the camp, swimming has been halted temporarily, but the boys are enjoying the new camp showers in place of the swimming. Swimming will resume as soon as the camp officials deem it advisable.

Egyptian Mummy In Chicago Museum Leads An Open Life
(International News Service)
CHICAGO—Although he has been dead 2,800 years, Harwa, second string Egyptian mummy at the Field Museum of Natural History, just can't have any privacy.
Harwa, the first mummy to travel by airplane, isn't so precious but that scientists can probe him inside and outside.
The rigors of modern living were forced on Harwa when the Museum dug him out of the storeroom and flew him off to the New York World's Fair. There Harwa became the first man alive or dead to be X-rayed every 40 seconds, eight hours a day.
Shipped back to Chicago along with the X-ray equipment, Harwa continues to be the object of scientific investigation.
Today, anybody who wants to see Harwa both inside and outside can go to the Egyptian hall and see how he appears on the rather scraggy surface and then look through him. When a button is pressed, a fluoroscopic screen rolls in front of Harwa and 125,000 volts of X-rays shine through him. Scientists are chiefly interested in looking through him because Harwa shows the traces of an abscess in one tooth and is minus one rib, the twelfth.
Unscientific patrons at the museum, however, are more interested in seeing if he had any money in his pockets. They are disappointed because Harwa hasn't any.

RODENBAUGHS ARE RECOVERING NICELY
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodenbaugh of 413 Butz street, who were injured when their automobile was involved in a collision on the New Wilmington road, and then burst into flames are getting along nicely at the Jameson Memorial hospital.
The two children, Robert Jr. and William, were able to be taken to the home of their grandparents Saturday, neither having been injured to any extent.
Twenty thousand men were employed in the erection of the famous Taj Mahal, the beautiful mausoleum in India. It took a period of 20 years to build it.

Derby Veterans Will Be In Race

Expect This Year's Race To Be Most Competitive As Yet Conducted

ELLWOOD CITY, July 21.—Derby officials are convinced that this year's Soap Box Derby race will be the most competitive race ever held here in the six years of the Ledger and Economy-Chevrolet sponsoring a derby.

Helmets for the local race have arrived and will be distributed this coming Saturday morning at a special meeting to be held at the Majestic theater.

Motor police will again lead each heat down the track in order to clear the way and also be on hand inside the track in case of an accident.

Body Of Underworld Character Found

Discovered In Waters Near Cape May, N. J., By Fishermen Sunday

(International News Service)
CAPE MAY, N. J., July 21.—Crime investigating authorities of New Jersey and Pennsylvania today ran into a blank wall in their efforts to unravel the murder of Johnny (the Chink) Goodman, ugly and hated Philadelphia underworld guerrilla.

Swathed in an improvised shroud of tent cloth and weighted down by a heavy concrete block, Goodman's body was found by two crab fishermen in the waters of Skunk Sound, near Cape May, on Sunday. An autopsy showed he was killed by club blows rained on his head.

As usual, the mobster executioners disdained any attempt to rob the victim. The pockets of his clothing yielded $480 in cash and a gold cigarette case inscribed "J. B." standing for Goodman's real name—Julius Brant. Also on the corpse was the criminal registration card of John Goodman, 52, whose criminal record nearly extended through the entire gamut of racketeering—including murder, of which he was convicted.

Landon Calls Upon President To Make Clear-Cut Statement

(International News Service)
TOPEKA, Kas., July 21.—Alfred M. Landon called upon President Roosevelt today for "a frank, clear-cut statement, with no weasel words in it," on the administration's proposed amendment to the selective service act extending the terms of draftees and national guardsmen in service.

Landon's statement came in a nationwide radio broadcast in which he gave his "reluctant support" to proposals that the draftees and guardsmen be kept in service beyond a year. He said:

"I am compelled by circumstances, brought about partly by the president's policies, to take the position that it is unsafe to release from service these men who have had some physical training and some fundamentals of military coordination."

Cites Former Statements
The former Kansas governor and 1936 Republican presidential candidate charged the "provocative words and belittling policies and acts" of the president and his cabinet have made it necessary for the United States to be armed to the teeth. He went on:

"Last year, when the President, speaking as a candidate, was telling the American people of the beneficial results of a year's training for boys—and girls, also—in army camps and labor battalions, France and Holland and Norway and Belgium were conquered countries. He, the President and presidential candidate, must have known then the demands his provocative speeches and acts would place upon the draftees. But he has shown himself a master at changing his pace. One day he threw provocative words at the bloody dictators. The next he assured the American people that their boys would never be sent to Europe to fight, but would only be given a nice healthful outing by a year's training in outdoor exercises."

Repeated Assurances
"But that if not all of it, nor the worst of it. Within two months Mr. Roosevelt, according to press dispatches, repeated his assurances that the boys would be sent home at the end of the year, and so would the National Guard."

"The world situation has not changed any since that promise to the American people, except for the war between the Communists and the Nazis. And the average man is getting a cynical laugh out of the flip-flops that are being done, not only by the American Communists but by the war crowd in meeting the shifting line-ups characteristic of European wars. The Communists had to join the administration overnight. But the administration has also taken the Communists at partners."

"The only invasion this country has suffered since the war with England in 1812 is the organized propaganda invasion by Soviet Russia. The greatest violation of our national rights, the most wholesale commitment of unfriendly acts by any foreign government against us, has been committed by the very government that we are now expected to help the Red Soviet."

The former Kansas governor scored Mr. Roosevelt for what he said was the "sad revelation" that the president's major campaign statements regarding America's non-intervention in the war were "mere campaign oratory."

"Frankness and candor compel me to say," he added, "that in the last national election only one of the candidates for president has been loyal and consistent to his pre-election policies and promises, and that was the candidate of the Socialist party, Norman Thomas."

Landon predicted that if the period of service under the draft act is extended, the next step will be "to remove the prohibition against any draftees or national guardsmen being sent outside the western hemisphere."

The president, Landon declared, now realizes that his course "means war," and thus wants to extend the draft act "so that he can keep the boys in the army and have them available to send overseas without any further interference from the Congress."

Battle Shaping East Of Stalin Line Is Report

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 21.—A second gigantic battle is shaping up east of the Stalin line and the Soviet forces, who already have lost the staggering total of 2,000,000 men, face further "annihilation," military circles declared tonight.

A survey of the first month of the Russo-German war by German military tacticians revealed these three important points:

First—The Russian armies have already suffered irreparable losses. The losses have been so tremendous that even the huge reserve of the Soviets cannot stem the tide now.

Second—The mystery-shrouded Stalin line has been shattered in several places and left in the wake of Germany's Panzer columns. The gigantic battle shaping up is well east of the Stalin line.

Third—There are strong indications that the morale of the Soviet armed forces is cracking because "war commissars" have replaced officers as the leaders of the troops. The German reserves have not been used as yet, it was stressed, and German leadership remains confident and firm.

Social Security Laws Revision Is Considered

By JOSEPH A. BORS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Testimony before a house committee has disclosed that administration officials are considering drastic revisions in Social Security laws that would broaden and increase payments to unemployed, disabled and aged persons and step up federal donations to states for care of needy.

Proposed revisions were outlined in a statement presented by Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board, to the Tolson committee which is studying labor migration to defense areas. Altmeyer said he and his aides were "getting recommendations in shape" for submission to the Bureau of the Budget.

Changes Urged

Altmeyer urged the following changes:

1—Extension of federal old age insurance benefits to agricultural and possibly other workers now excluded.

2—More adequate unemployment compensation payments over longer periods of time and extension of benefits to maritime workers not covered by present laws.

3—Addition of federal disability insurance to present social insurance for workers who are prevented from earning a living through illness or injury.

4—Protection for workers who leave their regular jobs and lose temporarily credits toward old age security while in military service or employed in government arsenals. Altmeyer's statement left to Congress the solution to the problem of how such workers could continue to pay their share of Social Security payments.

5—Establishment of a maximum residence requirement of one year for old-age assistance and aid to blind when persons move from one state to another. At present the requirements in some states runs as high as five years.

6—Creation of some system of

"socialized medicine" "to spread more evenly and more equitably the economic burden of ill-health."

7—Extension of present federal grants to states for aid to needy from the present 50-50 matching basis to a sliding scale running as high as 75-25 according to the state's per capita income. Thus less prosperous states might receive as high as $3 from the federal government for every $1 they spent for relief.

While a number of the proposals previously have been submitted to Congress and rejected, Altmeyer's statement indicated that the battle for more inclusive social security legislation would be renewed soon. He explained that this situation could be corrected by having the federal government set up more rigid rules for payments before states could obtain funds they now are receiving for administering unemployment insurance laws.

Regarding unemployment insurance, Altmeyer contended that in many states unemployed workers must wait too long for compensation, receive too little and that the payments stop too soon. He said that in some states workers receive only $2 to $3 per week.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE FINDS WATER IN RIVER TOO COLD

(International News Service) CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Chattanooga police have probably decided that the Tennessee river may be good for fishing, boating or other purposes, but it's no good for suicide attempts.

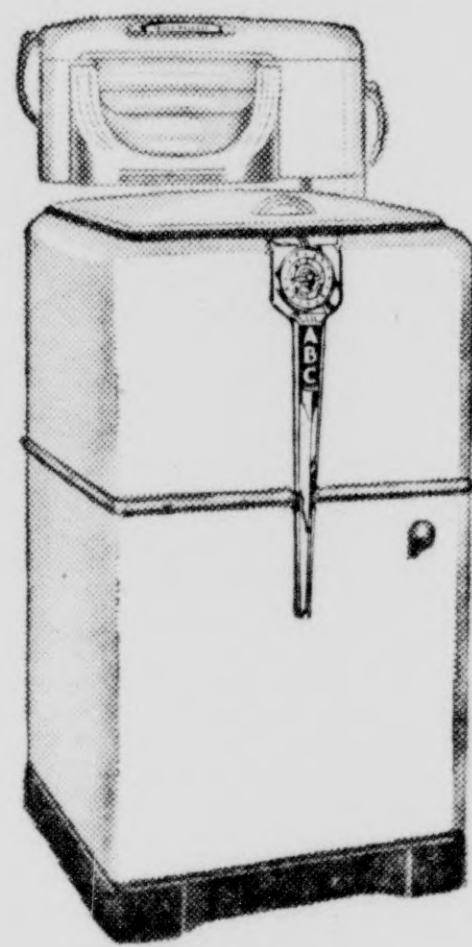

At any rate, one attempted suicide victim says so.

Alex DeLoach, 67-year-old Chattanooga negro, complained to police that "the Tennessee river is just too cold for committing suicide," as he was recovered from a recent try at drowning himself.

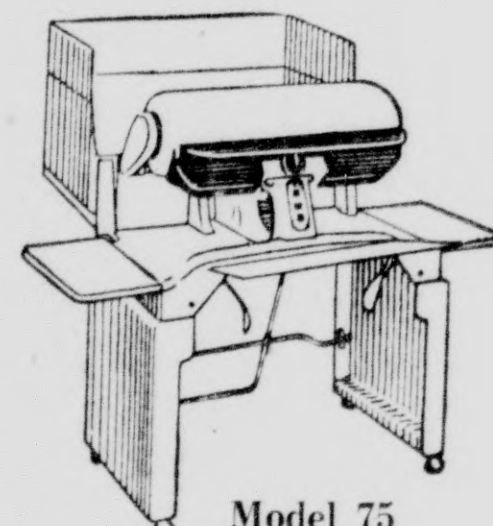

DeLoach jumped into the river, struggled in the icy water for a few minutes and then swam out again.

Coal Displaces U. S. Gasoline In Tokyo Vehicles

(International News Service)

PEKING, China.—Chinese in Peking learn with misgiving of the successful use of North China coal in operating Tokyo's municipal buses, since the system of coal gas is to be extended to taxis also.

With American gasoline out of the question, Tokyo turned to charcoal burning motor cars and buses only to be faced by a charcoal famine late last year.

After tests, it has been announced that 100,000 tons of coal from Shansi Province of North China will suffice to run all motor transport in Tokyo for a single year.

While the Japanese state that they can ship this Chinese coal to Japan profitably, Chinese are themselves paying the bill. Before the outbreak of Sino-Japanese hostilities nearly four years ago, good Shansi coal was available in Peking, at 10 Chinese dollars per long ton.

Today it is between 40 and 50 dollars a ton and is not always easy for the Chinese to purchase it despite the fact that the mines are only a few hundred miles away on trunk railways.

There is one of the world's most dreaded prisons at Urga, Mongolia. The cells are coffins four feet long by two and one-half feet high, piled on one another in a dungeon. Prisoners are chained permanently in them and cannot sit up, stand or stretch. Death is a welcome visitor.

Browns Improved, Take Double Bill

Defeat Boston Red Sox Twice, Yanks Win And Increase League Lead

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, July 21.—Up until today there might have been some doubt as to how many clubs could be figured in the American league pennant race. That has been definitely settled now, except for remotest possibilities, and it is strictly a matter between the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians. But while everybody has been watching the contenders and the antics of Joe DiMaggio, one of the hottest clubs in the circuit over the span of a week has been almost entirely overlooked.

Hold your hats. You'll never recognize them as such, but the St. Louis Browns suddenly have opened up the heat valves and unless they blow cold just as quickly they will be challenging for a first division berth ere the season ends, to the utter consternation of everybody.

Browns Win Two
In their four-game series with the Red Sox, the Browns made 29 runs against nine, yesterday's scores being 6 to 3 and 10 to 0, with the Browns making 28 hits against 14, and Bob Muncie hurling the shut-out. George McQuinn increased his home run total to 14 for the season against the Red Sox hurling by hitting two in the opening game and one in the afterpiece.

Among other things, the double defeat dropped the Yankees, seven games behind the Indians and left them only 1½ ahead of the White Sox.

The Yankees increased their lead over the tribe to seven games by defeating the Tigers 12 to 6 in 17 innings, the winning extra frame struck run blast including homers by Charley Keller and Tommy Henrich. DiMaggio maintained some kind of a rampage with a home run and three doubles.

Indians Get Split
The Indians meantime lost to Washington, 8 to 4, then won by 5 to 1. The White Sox downed the Athletics, 2 to 1. Ted Lyons scoring his 22nd major league victory, then the A's bounced back with a 4 to 1 win in 13 frames.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' National league lead was cut to an unimposing 1½ games by the St. Louis Cardinals, who beat the Boston Braves 4 to 2 in 12 innings and 7 to 3 in eight, while the Dodgers were splitting a pair with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Dodgers won by 5 to 1 and lost by the same score, feature of this being that Whitlow Wyatt failed again to score his 14th win.

The Cincinnati Reds took the Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 1 and 3 to 2, while the Giants were beating the Chicago Cubs 7 to 5 and losing to them 7 to 4, and with that the Reds pulled up to within two percentage points of a third place tie with the Giant.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—In an effort to rejuvenate the cellar-dwelling Phils, President Gerry Nugent today announced the acquisition of Jim Carlin, 22-year-old slugging outfielder from Springfield, Mass., of the Eastern league.

Carlin, a right-hand thrower and left-side batter, comes to the Phils on a 30-day trial basis.

At the same time, the Phils released Catcher Walter Millies and optioned Second Baseman Harry Marrie to Springfield, subject to 24-hour recall.

HUBBELL FOOLS 'EM; STILL A TOP HURLER

NEW YORK — His baseball obituary written in 1938 when his arm seemed to have lost its old-time zip and finesse, Jean Carl Hubbell, 38-year-old New York Giant pitcher, has fooled the smart coterie of the game.

While he can't work as often as he did several years ago, Carl is almost a sure bet when he steps to the mound. At the present rate, Hubbell may be around for at least another year, and perhaps two.

GREENBERG GETS INCREASE IN PAY

FORT CUSTER, Mich.—"Hank" Greenberg, star outfielder for the Detroit Tigers before he was inducted into the army, has been promoted to private first class.

The promotion also means an increase in pay, from $21 to $27 a month.

The winner and still champion wrestler of Temple University is 40-year-old Dr. J. Lloyd Eolin, member of the varsity team and the only Ph. D. coaching college wrestling.

In an open tournament staged last week the former Penn State star, who is nationally known for his research in radio-activity, defeated rivals, all members of the varsity team, in the 135 and 140-pound classes.

Lach Home From Golf Tournament

Eliminated On Second Day, After Qualifying In National Public Links Event

Ted Lach, 16-year-old local entry in the National Public Links Tournament, which was held last week at Spokane, Wash., arrived home Sunday. After qualifying with a 149 for the 26-hole qualifying round last Monday, he fell by the wayside in the match play Tuesday, along with a number of other fine golfers from various sections of the country.

After resting up for a few days, he will go to Hershey, Pa., on Wednesday, where he is entered in the Pennsylvania Public Links tournament which gets under way there the latter part of the week.

Other local entries in the Hershey tournament are Martin Segedi, and James Gaique. Gaique is already on the scene, having left Saturday, while Segedi plans to go tomorrow.

The National Public Links event was won by Bill Welsh, 27-year-old material distributor for a Houston, Texas, oil concern. He barely squeezed into the tournament at the start, having his home state, and was one of 17 players with scores of 151, who played off for the right to get into the match play. He won the title on Saturday with a convincing 6 and 5 victory over Bill Kerns.

Car Well Soaked At Underpass Here

High Water Under Railroad Bridge Is Auto Trap On Friday Night

Howard Bruce spent the week end drying out his automobile and getting the water out of the crankcase, after having it partially submerged in water on Montgomery avenue under the railroad underpass Friday night.

Driving along Montgomery avenue during the heavy rain, Bruce failed to see the deep water that had collected under the bridge and drove right into it. When the auto stopped, about halfway under the bridge, the water was at seat height, inside and out.

After removing part of his clothing, Bruce, aided by a couple of bystanders pushed the car from the water and parked it to let it dry. Two other cars started through the water under the bridge, but halted before they got in too deep.

New Record Is Made By B. & O.

BALTIMORE, July 21.—The Baltimore and Ohio reported today that during June of this year the record made of average miles per day movement of freight cars on the system was 43, the highest in the company's history. This represents an improvement of 6.2 miles per day as compared with the record of 36.8 for June of last year, which was the highest daily average mileage made for a single month up to that time.

The Baltimore and Ohio had about 80,000 cars in service, loaded and empty, during June, 1941. Equating other factors, the record movement per day for that month thus made available for daily service about 13,000 more cars than were available for the corresponding month of last year, or 130 freight trains of 100 cars each.

Roy B. White, president of the B. & O., pointed out today in Baltimore that although this gain was brought about in part by the increase in business for June of this year as compared with the same month of last year, and also by the faster movement of cars between terminals, it was largely due to the splendid cooperation of shippers in:

1. Loading cars to capacity;
2. Loading and unloading promptly;
3. Ordering no more cars than actually needed.

TENNESSEE POLICE PATROL PICKS U CALIFORNIA CALL

(International News Service) CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Patrolman A. F. May was peacefully cruising his police car around Chattanooga when over his radio came "Car 2—go to—Third street and pick up two old men fugitives from the Old Men's Home."

"Okay, Car 2," answered Patrolman May over his two-way set.

After quite an elapse of time the Chattanooga police dispatcher got a call from May of "Say, where is that address on Third street again?"

The dispatcher inquired into the trouble and discovered the call had come from a police radio station in California.

Despite the distance, the call had been received perfectly by the Chattanooga policeman.

He decided the "Third street" in California was a bit too far to answer.
